Literacy Centres

Macquarie Park | Bella Vista

- ▶ Online instruction available at school for students Year 3 and above
- ▶ One-to-one literacy intervention programs for struggling readers with expert tutors

MultiLit, a research initiative of Macquarie University, offers proven programs to improve reading accuracy, fluency and comprehension.

Our Literacy Centre is now offering online instruction for students, Year 3 and above, delivered at school. Our new lesson platform via Zoom provides engaging, targeted individual presentation with qualified and experienced tutors.

One-to-one instruction is available for students either two, three or four times a week. Consultation and advice regarding ongoing student learning needs for supervising school staff is also available from qualified MultiLit staff as part of this online lesson service.

Online lessons at school for students Years 3 and above

Who is it for?

The program is suited to students who require intensive support with decoding, fluency, and comprehension. A minimum of two terms of instruction (20 weeks) is required.

The program is ideal for students who have not responded to previous school-based intervention. A MultiLit literacy assessment is required prior to enrolment to determine program placement and to assist with progress monitoring procedures.

What is required from schools?

Student enrolment requires the following:

1. An initial assessment (1.5 hours) delivered online by MultiLit staff
2. Commitment to a minimum of two terms (20 weeks) instruction two, three or four times a week
3. A quiet, private area for student/s to complete lessons at school
4. A school staff member to assist students with technical support
5. Availability of either school staff or a parent to complete reading practice outside lesson times using prescribed intervention methods

Program costs
